IQAC Coordinator: Role Flow

How the IQAC Coordinator seat works in the Faculty Management System, with illustrated screens.

1. What the IQAC Coordinator role is today

In this system the IQAC Coordinator is a named seat for the person who coordinates the college's Internal Quality Assurance Cell. At present the role has no modules of its own. Its dashboard says so: access to specific modules is granted by the college's administration as needed.

IQAC Coordinator is a seat, not a separate kind of login. A faculty member holds it, signs in as usual and picks IQAC Coordinator in the Working as switcher. The Principal appoints the seat from Role Assignments. Only one person holds it at a time.

> All screens in this document are illustrations drawn from the page layouts, with placeholder names and numbers. They contain no real college data.

Personal pages
profile, leave, adjustments

If the college wants this role to use a module (for example to review or upload quality documents), the administration grants it. The sidebar then gains that item. Until then the three personal pages below are all there is.

3. What the role can reach

Sidebar item	What it does
Dashboard	A greeting and the access message.
My Profile	The person's own profile and password.
My Leave	Apply for leave or permission and follow requests.
Adjustment Requests	Cover and swap requests from colleagues.

4. Screen by screen

Dashboard

`/iqac-coordinator`

The only role-specific page. It greets the person and shows one message: the account was created by the Principal, and access to specific modules is granted by the college's administration as needed. There are no counters, lists or actions on it.

What the user does here

1. Read the message. Nothing needs to be done on this page.
2. Use the sidebar for the personal pages, or ask the college administration if a module is expected here.

My Profile

`/iqac-coordinator/profile`

The person's own account page: photo, name, email, role and department, and a set of profile sections (Personal Details, Academic Qualification, Professional Experience and others).

What the user does here

1. Open any section card to view or edit that part of the profile.
2. Use Change Password to set a new password.

My Leave

`/iqac-coordinator/leave`

The person's own leave record: a month calendar, a summary of attendance days, the year's usage and the balance for each leave type.

What the user does here

1. Press Apply for Leave or Apply Permission.
2. Follow the request through Awaiting decision, Approved or Rejected.

Adjustment Requests

`/leave/adjustments`

Where requests from colleagues to cover or swap duties during their leave arrive. It is the same shared page every faculty-type role has.

What the user does here

1. Open a request to see the date and details.
2. Accept or decline it.

> This page is shared with every faculty-type role. The wording and columns here are summarised from its purpose.
